Hi Hal,

I wanted to reach out to, first, extend my most sincere gratefulness to you and your incredible team at Eagles for Children. I was unable to attend last year's ceremony and didn't know what to expect when walking in today-- to say it was inspirational is a giant understatement.

Clearly, your vision is working. I'm sure the charities you are working on behalf have expressed this, but I must reiterate that what you have done for charities like Camp Casey is absolutely huge. Thank you, with all of my heart.

Secondly, I wanted to reach out about what Don said today about spreading awareness about Eagles for Charity and how we can help grow this concept by taking a look at our board, our donors and volunteers to see if there is anyone who might be receptive to what you've started. When I returned to the office today, I went through my contacts and I believe I might have a few potential supporters to introduce to you and Don.

I'd like to send a separate email to you and Don with e-introductions. If that is okay, please pass along Don's email address and I can get that sent out.

While I hope that my humble connections might lead somewhere for you, I'd also like to extend any further assistance to help with your cause. I believe so much in what you're doing and want to help in any way I can.

I'm happy to offer written or verbal testimony to just how much you have been able to help our grassroots nonprofit, include your organization in our annual newsletter, and share any other ideas that come up. If you can think of any way that the team at Camp Casey could help (need a horse to make an appearance at one of your functions???), please don't hesitate to ask.

I cannot thank you enough for following your vision and for doing so much good for so many. I am honored to know people like you.

In health and horses,

Molly
